LONDON, April 25.

BY the death of lord Montbermer, only ſon of his grace the duke of Montagu, the earldom of Montagu devolves on the honourable James Brudenal, eſq; maſter of the robes, on the demiſe of the preſent duke.

By letters lately received from a gentleman now on his travels into Greece, there is an account that the White Iſland in the Bay of Santerini, which, in 1707, roſe out of the ſea, to the aſtoniſhment of all Europe, has lately been obſerved to have received very conſiderable increaſe. This, added to the accounts received in France of the diſappearance of the iſland of St. Helena; and in Holland of the removal of the mountains of Bohemia; together with the freſh eruption of mount Veſuvius, after an intermiſſion of two years only, a thing never before known, affords matter of ſerious contemplation to ſpeculative people, and it is ſaid, that the Jewiſh Rabbies have conceived hopes, that theſe prelages are forerunners of the completion of an ancient prophecy, that is expected about the preſent æra, to be fulfilled in favour of the reſtoration of their nation to the Promiſed Land.—It is remarkable that the famous Mr. Whiſton predicted ſome very conſiderable alteration in the appearance of the earth about the year 1770.

A cutter and a man of war ſailed from Portſmouth lately in purſuit of the Ruſſian fleet, and the reaſon was, as all the tranſports had Mediterranean paſſes, it was thought if they ſhould be ſuffered to proceed with them, it would probably bring on a miſunderſtanding between the Grand Signor and our court, therefore it was judged proper to take them away; and, we hear, they have been returned to the commanders of the above veſſels.

April 27. The buſineſs of the American colonies will, it is thought, engroſs the attention of both houſes of parliament for the remainder of the ſeaſon, the accounts from the different provinces being every day more and more intereſting.

An evening paper of laſt night ſays, "Though the conjectures and expectations of the public are every day multiplying about the meaſures Mr. Wilkes intends purſuing, all of them menacing hoſtilities againſt adminiſtration; yet, we hear, the following is the plan he propoſes: To act only as a diligent magiſtrate and zealous citizen, till a diſſolution of parliament takes place, either in the uſual way, or otherwiſe; and then warmly purſue thoſe meaſures, for the good of his country, which that more extenſive walk will afford him.

On Thurſday laſt Mr. Alderman Trecothick (one of the repreſentatives of the city of London in parliament) moved, "That an addreſs be immediately preſented to his Majeſty, deſiring that his Majeſty would give orders, that copies of all letters to the ſecretaries of ſtate, the board of trade, &c. which contained any narrative of the late unhappy affair at Boſton; together with copies of the inſtructions ſent by his Majeſty's miniſters to his governors in North-America ſince June laſt, might be laid before the Houſe of Commons." Lord Hillſborough and lord North, who had heard of this motion, before it was made, would fain have perſuaded Mr. Trecothick not to make it; aſſuring him, that ſuch an addreſs was unneceſſary; as the papers would certainly be laid before the parliament, without it. But Mr. Trecothick did not chuſe to truſt to their aſſurances; and accordingly made his motion. The adminiſtration were afraid to oppoſe it. In fact, they durſt not. But colonel Mackay ſaid, "He ſaw great danger in it if it was not altered; as perhaps there might be ſome part of the letters which did not relate to the affair at Boſton; and, at all events the writers name, and other names in the letters, ought not, as had been too much the cuſtom, to be laid before the Houſe." Mr. Grenville concurred in this ſentiment, and enforced it exceedingly well, in a very fine ſpeech; inſtancing a variety of inconveniencies which might ariſe from ſuch a circumſtance, and ſome which actually did ariſe from laying the whole of the papers, with all the names before the Houſe, in the caſe of the ſtamp-act, and other matters ſince." Upon theſe arguments the motion was amended, by adding, "Extracts, or copies of all letters," &c. and the writers names, as well as all other names in the letters, are to be omitted.

Thurſday at Hicks's Hall a true bill of indictment was found againſt the author of the Whiſperer, a bench warrant was iſſued out for apprehending him, and ſtrict ſearch is making to bring him to trial.

A patriotic nobleman, in a late conference with a Great Perſonage on the affairs of Boſton, told his Majeſty, "That he feared what would be the conſequence when the ſoldiers were ſet, like taſk-maſters, over ſo ſpirited a people as the Americans, whoſe loyalty he held unqueſtionable, and whoſe bravery was equalled by none but Engliſhmen."

This day died, aged 92, John Ligonier, earl of Ligonier, &c. field marſhal of his Majeſty's forces, one of the lords of his Majeſty's privy council, knight of the bath, and colonel of the firſt regiment of foot guards.

April 30. A noble lord has publicly declared, that the late proceedings of the people of Boſton, in oppoſition to the military, is rank rebellion; another is ſaid to have given it in opinion, that had the Boſtonians cut them off to a man, they would be juſtified in ſo doing: Thus extremely different are the politics of this divided nation.

When the laſt letters were received from Conſtantinople, the Grand Signor had juſt iſſued orders for two hundred thouſand fighting men to be immediately muſtered by the ſeveral provinces tributary to the Porte, to make head againſt the Ruſſian armies, whoſe arrival was ſpeedily expected before the walls of the Imperial city.

The laſt letters from the Hague repreſent the King of Pruſſia to be dangerouſly ill.

His moſt Chriſtian Majeſty has ſettled 100,000l. ſterling per annum, on Madam Barré, his preſent favourite miſtreſs, which is 30,000l. more than was allowed Madam Pompadour, by which means ſhe vies even with the princes of the blood, in the ſplendor of her table and equipage.

Commodore Gambier is appointed to relieve Commodore Hood, as commander in chief of his Majeſty's ſhips ſtationed in North-America.

The Iriſh parliament, which ſtood prorogued to the firſt of May, is further prorogued to the 28th of Auguſt.

We are informed that a few days will be appointed for the further conſideration of ſome important domeſtic matters, and that the remaining part of the preſent ſeſſion of parliament will be entirely engroſſed by American buſineſs.

This day at noon came on the election of a repreſentative for Weſtminſter, in the room of the honourable Mr. Sandys, now lord Sandys, when Sir Robert Bernard, bart. was choſen without oppoſition.

May 1. By the laſt advices from Portugal lately received, we are informed that the cabinet affairs of that kingdom were never conducted with more ſecrecy and diſpatch than the preſent; from which circumſtance many judicious people, well verſed in the politics of the Portugueſe court, aſſert, that ſome very extraordinary events may ſoon be expected from that quarter; eſpecially as the Spaniſh ambaſſador at Liſbon is obſerved to be in daily conference with the prime miniſter, who is acknowledged to be a man of conſummate abilities, intrigue, and diſſimulation.

Yeſterday his Royal Highneſs the Duke of Glouceſter was appointed to the command of the firſt regiment of guards, in the room of the late Earl of Ligonier. Lord Loudoun ſucceeds his Royal Highneſs as colonel of the third regiment of foot guards; and colonel Moriſene Frederick ſucceeds Lord Loudoun in the command of the 30th regiment.

It is certain that the perſons who have for ſome time paſt ſecretly directed the helm, and are diſtinguiſhed by the appellation of Double Cabinet, are a certain dowager, and an earl (Lord Egremont) who lives at no great diſtance from Carlton-houſe.

We are informed that Mr. Wilkes has purchaſed an annuity for his life with the four thouſand pounds he obtained by his ſuit againſt Lord Halifax.

We hear the late Earl of Ligonier has left 20,000l. in legacies. His lordſhip's Engliſh titles are extinct in him, but he is ſucceeded by his nephew, ſon of the late lieutenant-colonel Ligonier, as Viſcount Clonmel, in the kingdom of Ireland.

May 2. On Saturday night ſome diſpatches were ſent away for general Gage, commander in chief of his Majeſty's forces in North-America, which were to be forwarded in the Halifax packet, Captain Boulderſon, then at Falmouth.

All the clerks in Lord Hillſborough's office attended on Sunday, in order to prepare the papers for the Houſe of Commons, relative to America.

Yeſterday a motion was made by the Earl of Chatham, for bringing in a bill, declaring the reſolutions of the Houſe of Commons, with regard to the expulſion of John Wilkes, Eſq; to be illegal and arbitrary. The debates ran high. The ſpeakers for the bill were the Earl of Chatham, Duke of Richmond, Lords Camden, Temple, Lyttleton, Shelburn, and Stanhope; and againſt it the Duke of Grafton, Lords Denbeigh, Pomfret, Weymouth, Powlet, Hillſborough, Manſfield, and Gower. The bill was rejected by a majority of 46, there being 89 to 43, among whom were the Dukes of Richmond, Rutland, Bolton, Northumberland, Manchester, and Portland. There were 24 Biſhops in the Houſe of Peers, two of whom, viz. Dr. Ewer, Biſhop of Bangor, and Dr. Keppel, Biſhop of Exeter, voted on the ſide of the minority. Another very extraordinary motion is expected to be made next Friday in the Houſe of Peers by the Earl of Chatham, who now ſeems to be quite recovered from all his former ailments.

The account of the ſucceſs of the Ruſſians in the Morea, has been confirmed by an expreſs to the Ruſſian miniſter at Venice, which he immediately diſpatched to general count Alexis Orlow, at Leghorn. This general, it is ſaid, has been created by her Imperial Ruſſian Majeſty, Prince of Macedonia.

May 3. The Houſe of Commons, in a committee, went upon Mr. Herbert's bill, which was for regulating the conſequences of expulſion, that no perſons ſhould be rendered incapable of ſitting in parliament after expulſion, who had not been convicted of certain offences particularly deſcribed therein. Lord North propoſed an alteration, which gave offence; and in ſhort, by a variety of alterations made by the miniſtry, the nature of the bill had been almoſt wholly changed; which Mr. Herbert not approving of, he got up and moved, "That the chairman might leave the chair;" which being agreed to, there was an end of this famous bill.

An eminent lawyer on the popular ſide has adviſed Mr. Wilkes, that the manner in which he intends to apply to the Houſe of Commons is unconſtitutional; the only legal method of applying to that Houſe is by petition.

An EPITAPH to the Memory of Lord LIGONIER.

"HERE lies a Soldier and an honeſt Man,
Who long prolong'd his Life on DAVID's Plan;
But Fate and Death, who all our Schemes defeat,
Chill'd the poor Corpſe, in Spite of Virgin's Heat."

May 4. It is now determined to ſend a very conſiderable force, as well of ſhips as men, to New-England; and it is ſettled, that general Gage is to go from New-York to command them.

By the torrents that lately poured from the mountains, by the melting of the ſnow on the Pyrennes, two whole towns have been overflowed, more than 1200 houſes carried away, and the bridges of St. Eſprit and Dax totally eraſed. On this melancholy occaſion 600 of the inhabitants were driven to the tops of towers and ſteeples, where they were forced to remain three days without any ſuſtenance. The loſs in the neighbourhood of Bourdeaux, Dax and Bayonne, is inconceivable, and the diſtreſs of the unfortunate people, who loſt all by this ſudden inundation, is inexpreſſible.

May 5. Very coercive means are adviſed and adopted, and are preparing to be employed againſt the Americans. But others ſay, the motion was over-ruled in a late council, for ſending a reinforcement of troops to Boſton, until the return of anſwers from governor Hutchinſon, and colonel Dalrymple, to the laſt diſpatches from London.

The future reſources of the Boſtonians, by calling in the people from the neighbouring towns to aſſiſt them in their late adopted meaſures, is we hear, to be prevented, by cutting off the communication between the town and country, by a fort, which can be ſo erected as to anſwer that end effectually.

It is ſaid, that it has been determined on, that all the inhabitants of Boſton ſhall be deprived of their fire-arms.

Tueſday evening a foreigner of diſtinction, ſuppoſed to be the Duke d'Aiguillon, arrived in town incog. He is but ſlightly attended, and obſcurely lodged in a little court in Weſtminſter.

May 7. It is reported that colonel Dalrymple will be cenſured for leaving his poſt without orders.

On Friday the following reſolution was moved, in the Houſe of Peers by Lord Chatham, viz. "Reſolved, That it is the opinion of this Houſe, that the advice, inducing his Majeſty to give the anſwer to a late humble Addreſs, Remonſtrance, and Petition, of the Lord Mayor, Aldermen, and Livery of the city of London, in Common-hall aſſembled, is of a moſt dangerous tendency; inaſmuch as thereby the exerciſe of the cleareſt rights of the ſubjects, namely, to petition the King for redreſs of grievances; to complain of violation of the freedom of election; to pray diſſolution of parliament; to paint mal practices in adminiſtration; and to urge the removal of evil miniſters, has, under pretence of reproving certain parts of the ſaid Remonſtrance and Petition, by the generality of one compendious word, contents, been indiſcriminately checked with reprimand; and the afflicted citizens of London have heard, from the throne itſelf, that the contents of their humble Addreſs, Remonſtrance, and Petition, laying their complaints and injuries at the feet of the Sovereign, as father of his people, able and willing to redreſs them, cannot but be conſidered by his Majeſty as diſreſpectful to himſelf, injurious to his parliament, and irreconcileable to the principles of the conſtitution." This motion was read by the ſpeaker, ſeconded and ſupported; but the miniſterial party made no reply. The duke of N---------- ſtood up and ſaid, he acted without any factious views, he acted upon the dictates of his conſcience. [Here he was ſuddenly ſeized with a want of utterance. The whole Houſe was in the utmoſt amaze. His grace ſat down; and being frequently called upon to go on, he ſtood up again; but could only ſay, I am not well, my Lords, and ſet down again.] A pauſe now enſuing for ſome time, and none of the miniſtry replying, the duke of Richmond roſe up, and called upon them to defend themſelves, to which no other reply was made, but the Queſtion! the Queſtion! It being near ſix o'clock, the Houſe divided; when 37 were for the reſolution, and 85 againſt it.

Extract of a letter from Liſbon, April 30.

"Mr. Lyttleton, our worthy envoy, who has exerted, though ineffectually, his great abilities to reſtore the Britiſh commerce in this place, is going to leave us. He is ſenſible of the infringement, by the Portugueſe, of every article of the treaties between the two courts relative to commerce; but finding himſelf deceived by the deluſive promiſes of the Conde d'Oeyras, and unſupported by our miniſtry, he has demanded his recall, which is granted him, and he will ſoon ſet out for England."

His Majeſty's ſhip the Saliſbury of 50 guns at Chatham is put into commiſſion, and the command given to Captain Barclay.

Thurſday two waggons arrived at the Bath, laden with treaſure on the merchants accounts, to the amount of 60,000l. brought from Jamaica, in his Majeſty's ſhip the Levant.

Philip Livingſton, Eſq; of New-York, having lately ſent his ſon to London, he is, for the ſervices of his father to the crown, appointed commiſſary of Weſt-Florida, a place worth four hundred pounds a year.

Laſt Friday morning the earl of Hillſborough had a conference with lord North, at his houſe in Downing-ſtreet, Weſtminſter, on the ſubject of ſome very intereſting intelligence received a few days ſince from Boſton in New-England.

It is reported at the weſt end of the town, that lord Groſvenor has been ſo much affected to hear of the illneſs of his lady, who has lodgings at this time near Knightſbridge for the recovery of her health, that he ſent a meſſage to her laſt week to propoſe terms of accommodation; the reply to which was, "She would conſider of them;" and it is generally believed a reconciliation will take place.

Two Engliſh gentlemen, who are ſaid to have planned the naval operations of a northern power, which has a conſiderable fleet up the Mediterranean, not having met with what they thought a proper reward for their ſervices, have ſailed for Conſtantinople, in order to lay a plan of operations before the Turks, which will enable them to render the hoſtile attacks of the Ruſſians abortive in thoſe ſeas.

May 8. Lord Chatham, in his ſpeech on Friday laſt, very judiciouſly obſerved, "that though in the affair of Mr. Wilkes, the Houſe of Commons acted unconſtitutionally, and in that reſpect did not legally repreſent the people, yet he did not pretend to ſay that their other acts were binding; for after all his enquiry into this matter, he obſerved, he could not ſatisfy himſelf they were not."

Yeſterday morning ſome advices were received from his Majeſty's conſul at Scanderoon, by the way of Venice, which mention that a revolt was premeditated in Syria and Paleſtine, to throw off the Turkiſh yoke.

May 9. Monday ſome diſpatches of conſequence were received at the earl of Weymouth's office, from his excellency William Henry Lyttleton, Eſq; his Britannic Majeſty's ambaſſador at the court of Portugal. The ſame day Don Mello de Carvalho, ambaſſador from that court, received diſpatches by the Liſbon packet.

Previous to the coming on of the queſtion in the Houſe of Peers on Friday, a committee of the Houſe of Commons, compoſed of Sir George Saville, George Onſlow, Eſq; and ſeveral others, carried up to the Lords for their concurrence, the bill "for diſannulling the privileges of members in every reſpect, but in their own perſons."

It is ſaid, that adminiſtration are greatly at a loſs how to act with reſpect to the colonies; ſome adviſing lenitive meaſures as the propereſt method of bringing them to reaſon, and to ſuffer their aſſemblies to levy taxes as before: Others are for coercive means of bringing them to reaſon. A writer, in a card to lord North, ſays, "ſend directly a fleet of men of war and frigates, and block up all the refractory ports of North-America; and do not ſuffer a ſhip to go out, but to their Mother country, until they ſubmit to the legiſlative power of Great-Britain. This, and this only, will bring theſe ſtubborn people to their duty." But it is feared, that this, and counſels like this, were they to be adopted, would ſeparate the colonies from Great-Britain for ever. Men of moderate principles are fit only to direct the affairs of a great empire.

It was aſſerted the other day, by a patriotic earl, "that the minds of three-fourths of the people were notoriouſly alienated from their allegiance, and that they were almoſt ready to prove it by their actions." To which a certain duke replied, "if that nominal majority were to draw their ſwords in that confidence, he would riſk his head on their finding themſelves confoundly miſtaken."

Some letters from Hamburgh mention a report prevailing there, of the Sophy of Perſia having declared war againſt the Grand Signor, and that he was marching a numerous army towards the frontiers of Turkey, in order to make advantage of the preſent diſtractions in the Ottoman empire.

According to recent letters from Smyrna, the Porte are ſo exceedingly exaſperated at the revolt of the Greeks in the Peloponneſus, and other places, that a reſolution has been taken to extirpate the whole race in every part of the Turkiſh empire, of which ſome places had already ſuffered the moſt barbarous examples.

The deſign of ſending Colonel Monſon, as an ambaſſador to the Eaſt-Indies is entirely laid aſide, general Smith, lately arrived from thence, having ſatisfactorily explained all thoſe matters of controverſy between the Engliſh and French companies, which were to have been the principal objects of the colonel's embaſſy. The French preſidency at Chandenagore have been obliged to permit an Engliſh officer and engineer, deputed from Calcutta, to take a ſurvey, and make an accurate drawing of the works carrying on round Chandenagore, on pretence of cutting a canal to drain the low lands of that country; and the engineer having reported that the works might with great facility be rendered very formidable to the Engliſh in caſe of a rupture, they are to be deſtroyed. When the Nottingham, Captain Smith, left Bengal, our affairs there were in a ſtate of the moſt perfect tranquility; the revenues had been ſucceſsfully collected, and the inveſtments made for the ſhips of this year are greater than were ever known; and ſo little apprehenſive were the governor and council of any danger from the French or country powers, that a number of troops were ordered to be diſbanded, which reduction will ſave the company not leſs than ſix lacks of rupees per annum.

The ſtate of the colonies came under conſideration yeſterday, and very warm debates enſued; much altercation and great variety of ſentiment; colonel Barré was very ſevere upon the military; and more ſo upon the miniſtry, for inveſting them with diſcretionary powers independent of the civil magiſtrate, which was, to all intents and purpoſes, eſtabliſhing a military government in the colonies. The lord Mayor was very warm; and in the heat of debate dropped ſome expreſſions that gave occaſion to thoſe who differed from him to ſmile; aye, aye, ſaid he, you may laugh; but I tell you theſe proceedings are contrary to the laws of God and man." The debate laſted till paſt twelve, but we have not yet been able to learn the reſult; an evening paper indeed ſays, that the miniſtry have come to a reſolution to ſend five regiments to America immediately. We are told however, that no perſon will be employed in his Majeſty's revenue there who has not been firſt employed in their Mother country, many of the preſent diſorders taking their riſe from the ignorance of thoſe in power of the duties of the offices committted to them.

The Houſe of Lords had yeſterday under debate the bill from the Commons for abridging the privileges of Parliament, ſo far as relates to that odious and unjuſt protection formerly granted to members and their dependents, by which they were defended from criminal ſuits in order to compel them to pay their juſt debts. This bill may be extended to peers with their own conſent; but cannot be made to affect ambaſſadors or ambaſſadors ſervants, their privileges depending upon the law of nations, and not upon the laws of any particular country.

Prince Wolonſki, the Ruſſian ambaſſador at Warſaw, has received the following particulars concerning the progreſs of the Ruſſian affairs in the Morea; that the imperial fleet, conſiſting of eighteen men of war of the line, ſome frigates, and other ſmall veſſels, had landed a large quantity of arms and ammunition for the uſe of the inhabitants, who having joined the Ruſſian troops, have made themſelves maſters of Calamatra, Myſiſtra, Ceron, and Mothon; and that after this diſembarkation the Ruſſian fleet had continued their voyage to the Archipelago. It is added, that the Greeks of Corfu and Cefalonia, and even the Jeſuits, had taken refuge in the Ruſſian army, being under the moſt terrible apprehenſions of cruel treatment from the common enemy; that the Turks themſelves, who inhabit Greece, Macedonia, and Albania, being ſeized with a panic, had declared their willingneſs to ſubmit to her Ruſſian Majeſty, and to pay her tribute; that the famous Stephano, who commanded the Grecian and Ruſſian army, after the firſt advantages, thought only of fortifying the places he had taken, and evying troops, till the arrival of ſome Ruſſian ſuccours that were ſoon expected to arrive at Avlon; that he had eſtabliſhed an hoſpital for the ſick, and ſome magazines at Maina; and that the carpenters worked inceſſantly in building three Greek veſſels, one of 25 guns, and two of 12 each, beſides two others of 24 guns each, to be in readineſs at Albania, to take on board the expected ſuccours.

MAY 10. Yeſterday the publiſher of an evening paper, was brought to the bar of an auguſt aſſembly, for printing certain proteſts, for which he was ordered to pay a fine of one hundred pounds, and to ſuffer one month's impriſonment in Newgate.

On Tueſday laſt a motion was made in the Houſe of Commons by governor Pownall, for an addreſs to his Majeſty, to have the ſtate of the military eſtabliſhment in America re-conſidered. Upon this occaſion the miniſtry declared, that the troops are withdrawn from Boſton, and will not be ſent there again until the civil magiſtrate calls for their aſſiſtance; and that his Majeſty had given orders to have the ſtate of the commiſſions, and the military commands in that country laid before the crown lawyers, in order that it might be reviſed and reſtified, and put upon a conſtitutional footing.—"It is remarkable that the miniſtry ſhould never think of this matter, until the notice of the motion put them upon the conſideration of it." Yeſterday a variety of reſolutions relative to America, were moved in the ſame place by Mr. Edmund Burke; when after long debates they divided upon the ſecond reſolutions purporting, that the letters and orders ſent by the miniſtry to the governors in America were the cauſes of the preſent diſcontents there, viz. 79 for the reſolution, and 196 againſt it.

The examination of captain Preſton's caſe, we hear, is put off till a more particular and authentic detail of theſe tranſactions is received.

The late diſturbances at Boſton have opened the eyes of the miniſtry to ſee the fatal conſequences of a childiſh obſtinacy, with reſpect to the making them ſubject to the power of the Britiſh parliament, without an adequate repreſentation; and it is ſaid has determined them to take off the remaining tax on tea before the expiration of the preſent ſeſſions, contrary to their late reſolve.

The new method of ſheathing with ground glaſs, for which a patent has been granted, has anſwered ſo well, that ſloops which have been ſent up the rivers Senegal and Gambia, where the worms are largeſt, are returned uninjured.

Letters from Leghorn adviſe, that an inſurrection has lately happened in Egypt, and that ſeveral Baſhaws refuſed the ſupplies of money and troops demanded by the Grand Signor.

MAY 12. The government of a certain colony has been within this week offered to no leſs than three gentlemen, and it was declined by all of them: And it is ſince rumoured, that governor Pownall, formerly governor of the Maſſachuſetts-Bay, will, at the deſire of the miniſtry, re-aſſume his government, until the diſtractions in Boſton, and the colony in general, are ſubſided.

We are told, that a Colony-Agent has propoſed to adminiſtration to ſettle the American diſputes by arbitration. Five arbiters to be choſen by the miniſtry, and five by the Americans; and thoſe ten to be at liberty to call in five more. The place of arbitration, London; and the award to be made in three months from their firſt meeting.

MAY 14. Sir Sidney Stafford Smythe, we are informed, will be appointed lord keeper in a few days, with a penſion of two thouſand pounds per annum, to commence at his removal from that office.

Saturday the earls Temple, Suffolk, Buckinghamſhire, lord Hyde, and others of the nobility, dined with lord Manſfield, at his ſeat at Cainwood, near Highgate.

A report prevails, that Mr. Lyttleton, now his Majeſty's ambaſſador at Liſbon, will ſpeedily be recalled, and will be appointed governor of New-England, in the room of Sir Francis Bernard.

Counſellor Wedderburn ſpeaking of American affairs a few days ago, ſaid, "in the reign of Charles the ſecond you conquered America, in the reign of George the third you loſt America; for I cannot conſider it now as any part of the Britiſh empire."

The friends of adminiſtration in both Houſes of Parliament were [illegible] they frequently came into the lobby to reconnoitre. Lord Denbigh particularly, of the upper houſe, aſked ſeveral times, "whether that fellow (meaning Mr. Wilkes) was come yet?"

After the diviſion in a certain aſſembly on Wedneſday, a gentleman in adminiſtration exulting, told a worthy baronet in oppoſition, that they had gained a complete victory. "No wonder, replied the baronet, your troops are better paid than ours."

Two bills of great importance to the manufactures and proſperity of theſe kingdoms, have during the courſe of laſt week, paſſed the Houſe of Commons. One for appropriating 15,000l. granted in a former ſeſſion of parliament for the improvement of the growth and culture of hemp and flax in Great-Britain. The other, for prolonging for ſeven years from June 1771, the bounty now granted on the exportation of Britiſh and Iriſh linens, and for granting a new bounty of one halfpenny per yard on the exportation of Britiſh checked and ſtriped linen. A motion was made in the committee, by Mr. Dempſter, and ſeconded by lord Frederick Cavendiſh, and lord George Sackville, for extending this bounty to printed and ſtained linens and cottons, but upon a diviſion, the queſtion was loſt by a ſingle vote only.

Letters from Berlin, dated April 14th, mention, that his Pruſſian Majeſty ſtill continues very ill of the gout, but that it is hoped his life is not in danger.

As lord Manſfield did not come to Weſtminſter-hall laſt Saturday, a report was raiſed that his lordſhip was indiſpoſed; and now, from the circumſtance of his entertaining ſome noblemen on the ſide of the minority, another report has been ſpread that there ſoon will be a coalition of parties.

The debates on the American affairs are this day expected to run high. The ſending a naval force with troops upon the Iriſh eſtabliſhment, for the ſecurity of our weſtern ſettlements, will, it is thought, be the ſubject of debate.

This day a court of common council was holden at Guildhall, to conſider of an addreſs to his Majeſty, upon his anſwer to the addreſs, petition and remonſtrance of the city of London, and on the reſolutions and addreſs of both Houſes of Parliament thereon.------After various debates it was carried by a majority of 45 commoners and one alderman to addreſs; and a committee was appointed to draw up the ſame, but was not finiſhed when this paper went to preſs. Mr. Wilkes was one of the committee; there were fifteen aldermen preſent. This meeting, we are credibly informed, as well as ſome former meetings of the livery, &c. have been held in conſequence of complaints from lord Chatham to my lord Mayor, of want of ſupport from the city to ſeconds his patriotic motions in the Houſe of Peers. It is even ſaid, that a letter of a very intereſting nature has been received that will explain this matter more fully.

Yeſterday arrived Count Hreptowitz, a Poliſh nobleman.

A confirmation is arrived at the Ruſſian ambaſſador's, of the advantages gained by the Ruſſians in the Morea.

Letters from Leghorn, of the 18th of April ſeem to confirm the report that the natives of Egypt had taken the advantage of the preſent war, to throw off the Turkiſh yoke, and that the famous Ali Bey had been univerſally acknowledged.

We are well aſſured, that Mr. Moore has ſold upwards of 120,000 of the 13 Numbers of his Whiſperer; however, it is thought he will pay dear for his public ſpiritedneſs, as it is ſaid he was this day taken into cuſtody for writing the above papers.

CHARLES-TOWN, JULY 10.

LAST Thurſday Afternoon, the Statue of the Right Honourable WILLIAM PITT, Earl of Chatham, was raiſed, and fixed in its Place, in Broad-ſtreet, oppoſite St. Michael's Church and the State-Houſe.----As ſoon as this was done, Lord Chatham's Health was drank, 26 Cannon were diſcharged by the Artillery Company, three Huzzas ſucceeded, and St. Michael's Bells rang.----In the Evening, the Club No. 45, conſiſting of a great Number of the principal Inhabitants of this Town, met at Meſſrs. Dillon & Gray's Tavern, where an elegant Entertainment was provided for them, and after Supper, 45 loyal and conſtitutional Toaſts were drank.
